Hi Olivia, from my discussion, these are kids once in CBP custody. Some would have referred to ORR if not Title 42, some already have been referred. I will clarify the family unit question, thanks.

Thanks Joanna, this is interesting.

I'm curious- does this number include only kids who arrive truly alone, or does it also include kids who are part of non-parent/legal guardian family groups being expelled under Title 42?

Before Title 42, if a child was traveling with a relative who was not a parent/legal guardian, CBP would typically refer the child to ORR as a UAC. My understanding is that right now they are keeping those types of family groups together for expulsion under Title 42, but I don't know if that makes up a significant number of children or not.

Thanks, this is about 100 kids a week which is par with what ICE told me they are seeing as of this morning for title 42's.

Hi all,

Enclosed is the raw # I received from CBP/UIP. I will get a breakdown by age and gender tomorrow, might have some medical condition info but no promise there.

Thanks,
Joanna

I've reached out to CBP/UIP on the statistics of UAC in CBP custody since Covid, will share once I hear from them, thanks.

Thanks Sara. I would draw attention to the policy issue #2 and ask how this might work in TX where you can have kids in unlicensed facilities for no more than 21 days (the camp bed model). This could mean that they would not have to be "federal". Would like a read on the possibility of using (b)(5)
